Hobbies and Interests

After graduating with a degree in games development, gaming continues to be one of my favourite hobbies, and I've sunk many hours into games like Dota 2 and the Witcher 3. Developing my own games has made me appreciate the games I play all the more and I now enjoy experimenting how I would implement different gameplay systems as I encounter them.

Another of my hobbies and one of my favourite creative outlets is collecting, assembling, and painting tabletop miniatures. I find the hobby to be great way to wind down and I get a lot out of seeing personal growth in my painting skills. I also like playing Dungeons and Dragons and I helped run a board game society at university where I met the current group of friends I still play with.
